The Irishman's Request.

In the days when dogging was in vogue as a punishment in the British navy a Scotchman and an Irishman on the arrival of their ship in harbor obtained leave to go ashore for a couple of days, and they overstayed the period of leave granted them. When they did put in an appearance they were ordered fifty lashes each. On the day of the punishment a parade was ordered to witness the infliction of the flogging. When all was ready the Scotchman asked as a favor to be allowed a piece of canvas on his back while he received his flogging. The captain granted his request and, turning to the Irishman, asked him if he required anything on his back while he was being flogged, to which he replied, "If ye please, yer honor, I'd like to have the Scotchman on my back, if ye wouldn't mind."

ROBBED MAN WHO BEFRIENDED HIM

Tramp Takes Twenty Eight Dollars from Pocket of J. Edward Oyler, of this Place, at whose Home he was Given Breakfast.

J. Edward Oyler, of Chambersburg street, was robbed on Wednesday afternoon of his pocket book and $28.00 by a man who had been given breakfast at the Oyler home in the morning. The thief was a tramp and got away though he was quickly followed and traced for some distance.

The money was taken from Mr. Oyler's overalls which he left on the porch of the milk receiving station at the west end of town when he went to dinner. Mr. Oyler usually keeps his pocket book in his hip pocket but he evidently placed it in his overalls pocket on Wednesday morning and did not discover his mistake until he reached home at dinner time.

Finding it gone, Mr. Oyler quickly sent his daughter, Margaret, to the milk station to get the overalls and procure the money. When she approached the building she recognized a man standing nearby to be the same as the one who had been given breakfast earlier in the day. When he saw her approaching he started rapidly out Buford avenue and the pocket book was nowhere to be found when the overalls were searched.

Miss Oyler quickly went back to the house and notified her father who followed at once and traced the man as far as several homes on Seminary Ridge at all of which he was told the tramp was hurrying ahead. Constables Wilson and Shealer were notified and all afternoon a hunt for the man was kept up. Several suspects were taken into custody and a search made but wrong parties were got in every case. One man was brought in from west of town but he did not answer the description of the thief in any way.

The man wanted carries an umbrella mending outfit, wears a white slouch hat and has a short black mustache. No further trace of his whereabouts has been obtained.

ANOTHER MAD DOG IN TOWN

Rabid Animal Killed after Biting Another Dog. Not Known to have Come in Contact with Animals of Past Few Weeks.

That Gettysburg mad dog scares are never to cease seems to be the fate of this community, one more canine in the town having become rabid, necessitating its being killed.

The latest victim of the disease was a small fox terrier belonging to John Weaver which began frothing at the mouth and snapping at objects and other animals. As soon as the dog showed symptoms of rabies Mr. Weaver killed it but it is said to have bitten one or more other dogs, all of which are being closely watched. It is not known that Mr. Weaver's dog came in contact with any of the numerous other mad dogs or alleged mad dogs which have been in this vicinity.

Benjamin Starner, Gettysburg's dog quarantine officer, was again on duty today and a number of canines, without muzzles, fell victims before his gun. People hearing that he was not working for some days had grown careless about their animals and as a result many were about town without the muzzles.

Gettysburg's police have been taking a census of the dogs in town. The Third Ward census has been completed and shows 168 dogs in that part of town. It is believed that this is not all. It is, however, seventy more than returned by the assessor, numerous residents of that part of town evidently having concealed the real truth from that official when questioned about the number of dogs in their possession.

FOUND ANOTHER SOLDIER'S BODY

Body of Louisiana Tiger Uncovered on East Cemetery Hill while Property of Water Company was being Cleaned up.

While cleaning up the premises of the Gettysburg Water Company on East Cemetery Hill Robert Caldwell, superintendent of the company, uncovered the remains of a human body, doubtless that of one of the "Louisiana Tigers" who participated in the charge on the Hill on July 2, 1863.

All of the body had become disintegrated with the exception of the bones of the lower limbs and some smaller bones of the body. The skull was entirely gone. With the body were found a table knife and spoon and the frame of a purse in which was an Indian arrow head. There were no coins in the purse at all, evidently having been removed when the body was buried, if any were there at the time.

The charge on East Cemetery Hill was made by Hope's North Carolina Brigade and by Hays' Louisiana Brigade, generally known as the "Louisiana Tigers." After the battle the bodies of the dead Confederate soldiers found on the slope of the Hill were buried, to be taken up later and buried in Southern cemeteries. Some of those buried on the slope of the hill were evidently missed as they were found at intervals afterward. Prior to the find of Mr. Caldwell the last was made about twenty years ago by Prof. Louis Sowers.

Prof. Sowers was walking one evening in the vicinity of Menckley's sand quarry when he noticed a shoe sticking out of the ground. Investigation showed a bone inside and further investigation disclosed the remainder of the body.

The bones found by Mr. Caldwell were located in the thicket along "Lovers' Lane" and are doubtless those of one of the men killed in the charge, buried there after the battle and missed when the bodies were disinterred to be taken South.

The bones were re-buried and the place marked by Mr. Caldwell to await instructions.

MORE FIRES ON THE MOUNTAIN

County People Lose in South Mountain Forest Fires. Forest Ranger and Corps of Assistants Work for Many Hours.

Several Adams County land owners lost their timber in a forest fire on Jack's Mountain which was not conquered until Wednesday morning. Forest Ranger Harry Thomas, Glen Furney, spent all of Tuesday night in the mountain fighting the forest conflagration.

Tuesday afternoon, a forest fire was started on Jack's mountain, not very far from Charman supposedly by a spark from a Western Maryland locomotive, and spread with great rapidity.

Mr. Thomas was notified and hurried at once to the scene of the fire, where with eighteen men, gathered from the neighborhood, he began at six o'clock in the evening, a fight that lasted until 4.30 next morning. By the latter hour the fire was extinguished but it had taken the hardest sort of work to accomplish this.

A long line of back fire was started to meet the big conflagration and the activity of Mr. Thomas and his assistants finally succeeded in checking the onrush of the flames.

Before the fire had been got under control it had swept over 350 acres of good timber and so fierce was the conflagration that almost every piece of timber and underbrush was killed. The loss will not be less than $1000, it is estimated.

The fire swept over lands owned by W. H. Whiting, Baltimore, who sustained a loss of $38,000 in the destruction of his store building and stable at Clermont, last week; C. S. Sprengle, Gettysburg, and John Barton, Fairfield.

CALL OF THE WILD

So much interest is being taken in the forthcoming presentation of James K. Hackett's New York success, "Call of the Wild" with Franklin Woodruff at the Walter Theatre, Monday, April 4, that the assumption seems warranted that the sale of seats will be unusually heavy. At all events arrangements have been made to handle a very large crowd. The success of the play has been of unusual proportions. The success of the play is due largely also to Mr. Hackett, who is succeeded by Franklin Woodruff, who has made a big hit in the part. This actor has scored a success in all his undertakings. In the part of John Ermine, the scout, he has outdone himself in any of his other parts. He has made a careful study of the part, outdone for him by the author and brings out every little detail.

WORKING ON RESERVOIR

G. A. R. MEN PROTEST AGAINST LEE STATUE

Forty Posts Oppose Congress Accepting It.

Washington, March 31.—Protests by forty G. A. R. posts against the acceptance by congress of the statue of General Robert E. Lee, for a place in statutory hall, were presented to the senate by Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts.

The protests vary in degree of intensity. The most radical characterize General Lee as a deserter from the military service of the United States and charge that he took the oath of allegiance to the southern Confederacy while a commissioned officer of the United States, and that he was an active participant in the war to destroy the Union.

Others refer to him as a "traitor whose name should not be mentioned except with contempt," and assert that the placing of the statue in the hall of fame "is a studied and direct insult to every living Union soldier and sailor and doubly so to the memory of those who gave their lives that the Union might be preserved."

Others are less bitter in their condemnation. Several of the petitions commend General Lee as a man, laud his private character, and limit their protest against the acceptance of a statue which represents the Confederate uniform. One or two indicate a willingness not to object to the statue of Lee, except that it is in representation of the Confederate uniform. Practically all protest against having the uniform of the Confederate soldier in the capitol.

TRY TO STEAL GIRL'S BODY

Death From Peculiar Malady Believed to Have Inspired Act.

Wilmington, Del., March 31.—The parents of Mary Johnson, who died a week ago, were so greatly aroused when informed that an attempt had been made to rob her grave at the Cathedral cemetery, that they had the grave opened. The body was found as it had been left on the day of the burial.

The young woman died of a peculiar malady and there was some talk about the question in scientific circles. It is believed that medical students intended to secure the body and make an examination, but that before they had completed their task of unearthing the coffin were frightened away and the grave remained unopened. Considerable earth had been removed from the grave.

ETNA ERUPTION

Lava Is Now Pouring From Thirty Craters.

Catania, March 31.—The eruption of Mount Etna has increased in violence and new craters have been opened. Professor Riccio, the director of the Mount Etna observatory, says that over thirty craters are now active and that from all of them lava is pouring out in cascades, while cinders and lapilli are falling over an area extending as far as the sea. The stream of lava is advancing toward Catania, but the town is no longer in danger, as the stream must later on be deflected toward the sea.

King George Capitulates.

Athens, March 31.—King George read a proclamation in the chamber convoking a national assembly. The proclamation was greeted with enthusiastic cheers. The national assembly is the main point for which the Military league, which has controlled the affairs of the country for some six months, has been fighting.

SIXTEEN MORE INDICTMENTS

Pittsburg Councilmen to Face Bribe Charges.

ONE RECEIVED $1000

"Little Captain" John Klein, Former Councilman, Who Started Graft Probe, Goes to Jail.

Pittsburg, Pa., March 31.—Sixteen more indictments were handed down by the grand jury against councilmen whom it is alleged sold their votes. Five are members of the present city council.

Pittsburg, March 31.—The grand jury handed down sixteen more indictments against councilmen whom it alleges sold their votes for money. Five of those indicted are members of the present city council.

A sensation was the introduction of the name of Dr. E. R. Walters, head of the department of health and charities of Pittsburg, and leading man in the cabinet of Mayor Magee. The grand jury in indicting Walters asserts it has proof that while he was president of Pittsburg councils he solicited and accepted a bribe of $1000 for his vote. This is by far the largest price yet allowed paid to any councilman. The bribery alleged occurred in 1928.

Price Councilmen Received.

The grand jury handed down a list of prices received by the different councilmen indicted. The list of indicted councilmen and the sums alleged to have been taken are as follows: Dr. E. R. Walters, $1000; T. O. Atkinson, $500; E. J. Edwards, $500; P. R. Kearns, $500; P. A. Manion, $500; John McCartney, $250; William McKelvey, $300; Samuel Poster, $250; Charles C. Schadt, $250; J. F. Semmler, $250; C. D. Tibbitts, $200; W. H. Weber, $250; John J. Hughes, $250; Isaac Libson, $250; S. C. Lennox, $500.

Dr. Walters denies that he received the money. He declares he will not resign his position and will fight in the courts.

Investigation of the part played by the Farmers' Deposit National bank of Pittsburg in the bribing of councilmen was continued by the grand jury. The clerk and other employees of the bank showed a reluctance to appear before the grand jury and special detectives visited the bank and took one hundred clerks, bookkeepers, etc., before the grand jury without ceremony.

Klein Goes to Jail.

"Little Captain" John Klein, former city councilman, member of the "big six" and the man who two weeks ago brought the latest graft exposure into the glare of publicity, went to the western penitentiary.

Following his irrepressible attitude since his confession, when he reached the jail, he called up the sheriff from Warden Francis' office. He told that official he had "better come down the river with his commitment" if he wished to serve it.

Klein, unless he is pardoned, which is not at all unlikely, will serve three and a half years. His voluntary trip to the penitentiary, accompanied by two county detectives, is taken to mean that the district attorney and grand jury are now through with him, having gained all the information the little river man is able to furnish.

MURDERERS BREAK JAIL

Men Condemned to Death in Electric Chair Cut Their Way Out.

Norfolk, Va., March 31.—Two colored murderers, condemned to death in the electric chair, and a white man charged with highway robbery, escaped from the Norfolk county jail in Portsmouth. They cut their way through the roof of the prison and lowered themselves to the ground by a rope made of torn bedclothes and pillows tied to a ventilator.

The delivery was one of the most remarkable in criminal annals of Virginia. It was not discovered until early morning, and there is no clue to the whereabouts of the escaped prisoners.

FAIL TO MAKE TAX RETURNS

One Thousand Corporations Will Be Subjected to Heavy Penalties.

Washington, March 31.—One thousand corporations in existence at the time of the enactment of the new tariff law last summer failed to make returns to the internal revenue bureau under the provision imposing a tax of 1 per cent on net incomes above $5000.

A number openly disregarded the statute requiring them to submit such returns by March 1, and they will be subjected to heavy penalties. Others obtained an extension of time.

In many cases the organizations had dissolved before the close of the calendar year. As to these, the attorney General Wickersham has been asked for an opinion on which will depend the question whether action shall be taken for the recovery of the taxes which they should have paid.

About $3,000,000 has been paid to the treasury on account of the corporation tax. Forty-two clerks are at work examining the 315,000 returns made and are disposing of them at the rate of 10,000 a day. Their labors will be completed by May 10.

The assessments which will be payable by the end of the fiscal year will be in the hands of the corporations by June 1.

GIRL FASTS 45 DAYS

Says She Has Taken Oath to Go Without Food for Two Months.

Cleveland, March 31.—Corra Osek, twenty-two years old, was arrested after she had fasted, her friends said, for forty-five days. The girl was taken to the county jail, where no persuasion could prevail on her to eat. She was so weak that she could not stand upright, but she insisted that she would fulfill an oath of fasting for two months, even if it killed her.

CALLS THE CUCUMBER A WASTE OF MONEY

"An Unpardonable Breach of Economy" to Buy It.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 31.—The state's first bulletin on domestic science, issued by the department of agriculture, takes a fall out of the cucumber as an article of diet. The bulletin was prepared by Neale S. Knowles, a teacher of domestic science in several agricultural colleges, and tells how to do everything connected with eating, from the selection of foods in markets to the setting of a table, hints being given on foods ranging from oatmeal to the ideal loaf of bread.

The writer goes into the properties of various foods and then deals with this blow at the cucumber:

"The housekeeper who buys cucumbers at 15 cents each in early spring does not take into consideration the fact that the cucumber is 96 per cent water, and that taking its cost into consideration, together with its lack of nourishing power and lack of digestibility, she is practicing an unpardonable breach of household economy, from the fact that the cucumber is so deficient in nutriment that it becomes an expensive food when the cost is considered."

Gettysburg, Pa., March 31.—Rebecca Foreman, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myer Foreman, of Lykens, was drowned in a few feet of water at the home of relatives in Gettysburg, where the child and her mother had been visiting.

The little girl wandered into a building which shelters an abandoned hide vat. Her absence was not noted for some time, and she was dead when found floating on the water.

SUCCESS WITH THE DAIRY COWS

An experienced dairyman has the following to say regarding the raising and keeping of dairy cows: There is quite a marked difference between the dairy cow and other types of cattle which should be clearly understood, that the right treatment may be given to produce the best results and make a success of dairying. The dairy cow does not lay on a very great supply of fat tissue beneath her skin to fall back on for nutrition and substance from which to produce milk in case of shortage of feed. The greater part of the nutriment of the food eaten are converted almost at once into milk which nature has intended for the calf, but which man has learned to utilize for himself. If the food supply is reduced to a minimum the fountain soon becomes dry, for the cow has few reserves from which to produce milk. This being the truth, it is clearly perceivable that the dairy cow, if she is to give the flow of milk required, must be supplied with an abundant amount of good, nutritious food from which to produce it.

Not only does the nutritious part of the food eaten go to produce a flow of milk, but the worn-out tissues of the body of the cow herself must be rebuilt. This also must be taken from the food, for the cow cannot give a great quantity of milk and be poor in body. So the food eaten is divided between the maintenance of the body and the production of milk. Quantity and quality of food both count in dairying. A great quantity of food will not produce a great quantity of milk if the food does not contain the proper nutriment.

Not only is a good supply of nutritious food the prime factor of successful dairying, but regularity of feeding is essential as well. If once the time is set for feeding and regularity is started the cow will be ready for her feed at that hour as regularly as the hour comes. Her digestive organs will have accustomed themselves to do it, and the cow will not be hungry till that hour but if it is overruled she becomes hungry and fretful. Fretting and worrying is a great handicap to the dairy cow.

With regularity of feeding there must also be regularity of milking. The full supply of milk is not in the bag ready to be drawn out before milking time comes, but a great amount of it is produced by glands during the operation of milking. This injures the glands and produces a decrease in the

WOMEN'S WOES

Gettysburg Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know:

Mrs. N. L. Wiernan, 135 York Street, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I suffered a great deal from backache and I often had nervous spells. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I procured a supply from the People's Drug Store and commenced their use. The backache was relieved and my entire system was benefited. I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills and advise anyone afflicted with kidney trouble to give them a trial."

milk flow. It is also advisable that the persons milking the cows do not change often, for each person has a little different manner of milking, and a change causes the cow to feel uneasy, and in some cases, if the change is repeated too often, it may injure the bag, and the cow will give less milk. At milking time it is best that the cow be comfortable and contented. She should have consumed at least a part of her food before milking begins, so she will be satisfied and willing to give up her milk. It is also well that she should have had access to clean, fresh water before milking.

The barn in winter must be kept moderately warm and clean. Fifty degrees is a fair average for a dairy barn. It may vary some for winter and summer.

As for exercise, it is very essential that the dairy cow should have plenty of it.

Summed up, then, the requirements of the dairy cow are good, wholesome food, regularity in feeding and milking, good care and treatment and plenty of open air exercise. These constitute the essentials of successful dairying.

The potted house roses may be kept free from the minute red spiders and the green lice by dipping the plant in a soapuds of fair strength every two or three days and by an occasional spraying with a tobacco solution made by steeping tobacco stems and leaves or cheap smoking tobacco in warm water. READING ALSO RAISES WAGES

Duplicates Pennsy's 6 Per Cent. Increase.

COSTS OVER MILLION YEARLY

About 27,000 Employees, Who Receive Less Than $300 A Month, Will Benefit—Effective April 1.

Philadelphia, March 31.—Reading railway employees were notified that, beginning April 1, their wages would be increased 6 per cent. The announcement says the increase will be general among all permanent employees receiving less than $300 a month whose pay has not been adjusted within the last ninety days.

Coming within twenty-four hours after the announcement by the Pennsylvania Railroad company of its wage boost and the increase being alike, has given rise to a report that there has been a slip-up in the announcement and that it was intended that the raises were intended to be published simultaneously. In railroad circles it was recalled that the last general increase in wages, made by the two companies in 1906, were announced at the same time. The increase at that time was 10 per cent.

The Reading's increase will affect about 27,000 employees. As the average pay is about $60 a month, the addition will cost the company about $97,500 a month, or $1,166,400 annually. The total number of employees, including those in the general offices, is 27,500. Not including the general offices, the number of employees is given as 26,700. In the case of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the increase will add, it is estimated, $10,000,000 to the annual expenses of the road.

The voluntary increases by both railroad companies is admittedly in recognition of the demands sweeping the country for a general increase to meet the increased cost of living.

Want 10 Per Cent Raise.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 31.—Considerable dissatisfaction is understood to exist among the employees of the Pennsylvania railroad in this city and vicinity because of the size of the increase in pay announced. Some of the men say the increase was made to forestall further demands, and that its size is not what should have been granted.

RATE RISE TO MEET WAGES

Schedules Filed by New Haven Road on Account of Higher Pay.

Washington, March 31.—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company has filed with the interstate commerce commission schedules of increases in its passenger rates. These advances are due to the increases in wages made recently to the company's employees.

The new rates will become effective on May 1. The increases in fares range from 2 to 5 per cent, but from an examination of the tariffs filed with the commission it appears that only those fares which now average more than $1 have been increased. The fares for the short hauls, which average from twenty to thirty miles, have not been altered.

New York Central May Follow Suit.

New York, March 31.—President Brown, of the New York Central, said that his company had not taken up consideration of whether an increase in either passenger or freight rates would be necessary if wages are advanced. If the matter is brought up for consideration at all, he said, it would not be until after the settlement of the present issue between the railroad and its employees as to wages.

STEEL TRUST TO FOLLOW

Proposition to Increase Wages Is Under Consideration.

New York, March 31.—The managers of the United States Steel corporation have under consideration a proposition to make a general advance in the wages of all employees other than high salaried officers. The proposition before the gentlemen is a voluntary increase similar to that declared by the Pennsylvania railroad. What has been done in regard to the proposition could not be learned definitely.

President Corey said: "I don't care to discuss it. It is entirely too personal a matter."

Elsewhere it was learned that it has already been decided to put into effect new and higher scales of wages in some plants or in some departments of all plants. From the same source it was learned that the officers and directors consider a rather general advance advisable, but have not yet determined on either the extent or the amount of the advance.

The coming advance, if made, will not be so radical. In 1902 a 10 per cent increase was awarded to more than 100,000 men.

An increase of 6 per cent, such as that declared by the Pennsylvania, would mean an added expense of $9,000,000 a year, according to the amount disbursed in wages last year.

AFTER STEAMSHIP TRUST

Government to Prosecute European Pool Under Sherman Law.

Washington, March 31.—Suit in equity under the Sherman anti-trust law is to be instituted by the department of justice against what is known as the European steamship pool, on the contention that it is an arrangement in restraint of trade.

The fact that the vessels owned by the steamship companies forming the pool, or a number of them, touch at American ports, is the basis for proceedings against them under the Sherman law, as that enactment gives the government jurisdiction to punish violations of law affecting both interstate and foreign commerce. All the steamship companies involved in the proposed proceedings are foreign organizations.

The matter has been under investigation by the federal grand jury in New York for a long time, and it is expected that the suit will be instituted in that city. The American headquarters of most of the steamship lines involved in the pool.

MAY NOT STRIKE

Western Pennsylvania Miners Will Accept Five Cent Increase.

Pittsburg, March 31.—Announcement is made that a strike of the coal diggers of the Pittsburg district may be averted when the scale expires at midnight tonight and the miners will likely continue work under a scale calling for a five cent increase, pending a settlement of local differences, chief among them being the introduction of new explosives.

President Francis Feehan and other officials and members of the district executive board arrived from Cincinnati. He immediately got into communication with the officials of the coal companies in this district, and a district conference likely will be arranged to sign contracts calling for an increase of five cents a ton.

WILL SOON APPOINT BREWER'S SUCCESSOR

It is Said Taft Has Selected New Justice.

Washington, March 31.—It was reported in Washington, although not on official authority, that President Taft has selected the justice who is to succeed to the vacancy on the supreme bench created by the death of Associate Justice Brewer. Since the death of Judge Brewer the president has had little opportunity to canvass the list of availables that will undoubtedly be given consideration before a final selection is made.

The impression prevails in supreme court circles that Lloyd M. Bowers, solicitor of the department of justice, will be invited to don the ermine. When Justice Peckham died several months ago it was thought for a time that Mr. Bowers would be named as an associate justice. The president has on a number of occasions spoken in very high terms of praise of Mr. Bowers' legal ability. There have been reports here from time to time that if Mr. Wickham should retire from the post of attorney general, he would be succeeded by Mr. Bowers.

While there has been mention of the names of Mr. Wickham and Governor Hughes in connection with the vacancy in the supreme court, doubt is expressed that either of them will be tendered the nomination.

MOUNTAINS ON FIRE

Virginians Fight to Protect Their Lives and Homes.

Winchester, Va., March 31.—The Great North mountains, west of this city, are on fire and residents at their feet are calling for help. The fire, which had been burning fiercely on the north and west sides of the mountain, crossed over to the east side of Big Ridge and every able-bodied man in Warrentonville was pressed into service to fight the flames.

So far the loss, which already aggregates thousands of dollars, has been confined to timber. Now, however, the homes and lives of the residents along the mountain sides are in grave danger.

PLOT AGAINST KING

Spanish Newspapers Says Part of Army Is in Conspiracy.

Lisbon, March 31.—A sensation has been caused by the assertion of the Seculo that the government has discovered that a great number of the sergeants in the regiments garrisoned at Estremoz and Elvas, near the Spanish frontier, are affiliated with secret revolutionary organizations, which are planning to overthrow the monarchy.

The paper says that there are suspicions and fears in other parts of the country.

KING MENELIK DIES OF APOPLEXY

Abyssinia's Ruler Succumbs After Long Illness.

THE EMPRESS IN PRISON

Monarch Claimed to Be Descended From Queen of Sheba and Solomon. Grandson Heir to Throne.

Addis Abeba, Abyssinia, March 31.—Menelik II., king of Abyssinia, is dead, at the age of sixty-six years and in the twenty-first year of his reign. Prince Lidj Jeassu, grandson of the late monarch, is heir to the throne.

The empress has been imprisoned by the followers of the crown prince. The king was stricken with apoplexy last fall and never recovered his health. For many weeks his death has been expected, and was falsely reported several times.

When he was able no longer to carry on the affairs of state, Ras Tsemaie, the regent, with the approval of the principal chiefs, took over the reins of government. At the same time Empress Taitou was deprived of all her power of interference in the government, and her appointments made among her favorites were annulled.

Prince Lidj Jeassu was proclaimed heir to the throne on May 18 last. He is fourteen years of age, and little less than a year ago was married to the granddaughter, aged seven years, of the late Emperor John and niece of Empress Taitou.

The ancient empire of Abyssinia or Ethiopia includes the kingdoms of Tigre, Amhara and Shoa, with other territories and dependencies. Its area is more than 200,000 square miles and the population is estimated at between 9,000,000 and 11,000,000.

Menelik was elected king by the Abyssinia chieftains over Ras Mangasha. He claimed to be a direct descendant of Solomon by the Queen of Sheba, and styled himself "Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Juda, Elect of the Savior, King of Kings of Ethiopia." He was the son of the king of Shoa, but was captured in his youth by the governor of Koudar, who had usurped the throne under the title of Theodore II.

Menelik made war on Theodore and his successor, the Emperor Johannes. He finally married his daughter to the Ras Alata, the emperor's son, and was tacitly acknowledged heir to the throne. Ras Alata died Johannes was killed in battle, and Menelik became negus of Abyssinia.

Report Not Confirmed.

London, March 31.—The report that King Menelik is dead appears to come by way of Aden, Arabia, and it is thought here that possibly it is only a repetition of the rumors of the monarch's death which have been current for some days.

SAY PRICES ARE UP TO STAY

Cattle Raisers Say Days of Cheap Meat Are Past Forever.

Washington, March 31.—Unless some one can find a way to repeal the law of supply and demand, there is no remedy for "increasing prices," asserted of Samuel H. Cowan, of Fort Worth, Tex., counsel for the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, before the senate food investigating committee. "The people of the United States need never expect cheap meat again."

Mr. Cowan, 31 the committee that in the future it would be necessary for cattle raisers to maintain as high or even higher prices in order to keep pace with the increased cost of grazing land and feed.

Like many other witnesses before the committee Mr. Cowan thought the present price of beef was due to the decreasing production and the increasing population. He said cities were luring young men away from farms to such an extent that it was almost impossible to get sufficient help.

The only way, he said, to attract men to the country was to give them high wages which, with the advanced price of land and feed, made it necessary for stock raisers to charge high for their cattle.

Chanteur Saves Life.

Chester, Pa., March 31.—While she was dancing at the Eagles' annual ball Miss Sadie Cloud's hand slipped from that of her partner and she fell to the floor, striking the back of her head with violent force. She was unconscious for ten minutes. Physicians declare the chanteur style of hair dressing worn by Miss Cloud prevented her skull from being fractured, the bulkiness of her coiffure serving as a cushion.

20 Years With Heart Trouble

"Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has cured me of heart disease of over 20 years' standing. I was so bad that I could not do my work, and could scarcely draw a full breath without fainting or smothering. The doctor told me he could do no more for me; then I commenced taking the Heart Remedy. I shall never forget that night. I slept better than I had before in months. I kept right on getting better, until I was perfectly well."

MRS. LAURA RUSSELL, Logan, Iowa.

When the heart action is weak, it fails to pump the blood through the lungs with sufficient rapidity. Then the lungs do not absorb the proper amount of oxygen, although they may be taking in a normal amount of air. The result is shortness of breath, smothering spells, difficult breathing, oppressed feeling in chest. Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, and in this way increases the circulation.

It is Unnecessary To Suffer This Terrible Trouble

Keen torture is the everyday lot of the sufferer from piles. And yet that suffering is needless. The People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, will sell you Hem-Roid and later return your money if it fails.

We have sold Hem-Roid that way for two or three years and refunds asked have been less than 3 per cent. We therefore recommend it with confidence. Have Your Deeds Recorded

By an Act of Assembly of 1893, "All Deeds and Conveyances shall be recorded within ninety days after their execution, or shall be adjudged fraudulent and void against subsequent purchasers."

Also the Act of Assembly of 1909, prescribes a short form of Deeds, and "again requires the recording to make them valid." It is also a great protection against loss or deed being burned by having them recorded, and costs but a small sum, compared to getting a new deed.

Bring or send them into the Recorder's office and in a few days they will be returned to you.

THOUGHT HE HAD 'EM.

The Surprise That Greeted Him After His Debauch.

A millionaire who had queer ideas of humor and the means to carry them into effect lived in great style near Monte Carlo. This man had an ivory white villa on a gray crag in a garden of palms and roses, fronting the sun and sunlit sea. Here he would entertain his friends with practical jokes.

One night, after roulette at the casino and supper at Ciro's, a party of young men were taken to the villa. A certain young man had drunk a little too much vintage champagne at the elegant restaurant, and him the host resolved to play one of his jokes upon. So when the young man fell asleep in the billiard room two servants, repressing their smiles, carried him away.

The other guests were awakened the next morning by the host in person. He led them through snail marble corridors, through rooms whose walls of glass gave views of the blue Mediterranean, of sailing ships, rose gardens and the faroff maritime Alps, with their pale snow caps. Finally he brought them to a peephole.

The scene they saw through their peephole was absurd. A dazed man in evening dress, slowly waking to consciousness, lay on a white plastered floor and looked up in horror at a carpeted ceiling. A massive bed, a bureau, washstands and armchairs, all securely fastened, stared down at him from above. His eyes rested on a huge tub directly over his head, in which a fine palm was growing downwards. He gave a yell of terror, rolled over and clutched with frenzied hands the stem of the chandelier, which came up through the plastered floor.

Thereupon the practical joker of a host burst, with a loud laugh, into the room.

"They all do it!" he cried. "They all without exception grab the chandelier for fear they will fall up to the ceiling!"

Be Considerate.

We lose trust in each other not through the faults of our neighbors, but because of our own exactions. We expect too much from others, too little from ourselves, always viewing our friends from our standpoint, forgetful of the suffering, the worry and the toll which demand attention on our right and left.

Rules of Sleep.

Those who think most, who do most brain work, require most sleep, and time "saved" from necessary sleep is infallibly destructive to mind, body and estate. Give yourself, your children, your servants, give all that are under you, the fullest amount of sleep they will take by compelling them to go to bed at some regular early hour and to rise in the morning the moment they awake, and within a fortnight nature, with almost the regularity of the rising sun, will unloose the bonds of sleep the moment enough repose has been secured for the wants of the system.

This is the only safe and sufficient rule, and as to the question how much sleep any one requires each must be a rule for himself. Great nature will never fail to write it out to the observer under the regulations just given.

Home Course In Domestic Science

I.—The Scope of Domestic Science.

By EDITH G. CHARLTON,
In Charge of Domestic Economy, Iowa State College.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

THE purpose of this series of articles will be an attempt to show the direct relation between domestic science and ordinary affairs in the life of either men or women. Too many people have conceived the idea that domestic science chiefly concerns those people who have more time for theorizing than for actual work. These think the subject deals largely with air castles of the Bellamy style of architecture and contains little real help for present day homemakers. There are some who still hold the opinion that such is the meaning and scope of domestic science, but their number is rapidly decreasing on account of the introduction of the study of scientific homemaking into public schools, high schools and colleges. To be an aid to housekeepers who cannot take advantage of these courses of study as prescribed in schools and colleges is the aim of this series of talks.

One of the chief purposes of domestic science is to teach men and women how to live rightly, how to use material things in such a way as to get the highest good, the best results, from them. The science concerns men quite as much as women, and it means much more than the commonly accepted idea that it has most to do with cooking and eating and washing dishes. These things are of course included in the study and, I assure you, that even these exceedingly common affairs of life are deserving of a higher place in the wonderful process of living than is usually accorded them.

Life is a serious business, and nothing which pertains to it is either a joke or a trifle. Therefore anything which helps to give even the commonest things their true importance and assists men and women to be better mentally and physically is worthy due consideration and a fair trial from every individual. So, while these talks concern the housekeeper more closely perhaps than they do men, the latter are not exempt from at least an honest interest in their subject matter.

Those who have anything to do with stock know how important it is that the animals be properly fed in order that they may be suitable for their special purpose. Men give a great deal of study to the different methods of feeding cows and pigs. They talk wisely about whether it is better to feed corn or peas for fattening purposes. They are careful, too, to see that the soil on which the apple orchard is planted contains the proper elements to make strong, productive trees. But when it comes to the daily bill of fare for human beings the average man and woman give it very little thought. At least it is the common rule to eat what is set before us or what our fancy and appetite suggest, until we have so long disregarded the laws of nature that our digestive organs rebel, and we can't eat even the plainest food without discomfort.

It is a fact that the average person knows less about his own anatomy and the functions of his body than about almost any other subject. Think for a moment of the many noted men who are laid aside in early middle life because their digestive organs are worn out. And no wonder they refuse to perform their duties! We wouldn't treat a thrashing machine as we treat ourselves and not expect the machine to be good for nothing inside six months. The illustration is more nearly parallel with the case than perhaps you think. The man feeds his engine with coal and wood in order to get energy from it. He also expects to get energy, growth and continued life from his food; at least that is the true reason why he eats. Yet how many men and women are there who from an ordinary bill of fare can select the foods which build tissue—make brain and blood—and which are most suitable for the production of heat and energy?

Illinois State Grange.

At the recent annual session of the Illinois state grange resolutions were adopted favoring election of United States senators by direct vote, a general parcels post law, local option, state aid for public highway improvement, placing registration fee of automobiles in the treasury of the state highway commission for use in improving public roads, deep waterways from the great lakes to the gulf, the continuance of the tax on colored oleomargarine, postal savings banks, conservation of our natural resources and against ship subsidy.

EDITH G. CHARLTON

The selection of food for the table in order that it may be truly nourishing and may yield the necessary material for growth is one of woman's greatest tasks. To be the maker of a home from which strong men and women shall go forth to build and keep a nation powerful and united is the highest task given to human beings. This is woman's true work. Is she honestly equipped and trained for it?

The Task of Homemaking.

Woman's share in the well being of the family demands not only an intelligent knowledge of the principles of her work, but also interest and enthusiasm in it. To be a really successful housekeeper a woman must be an enthusiastic housekeeper. Very few, if any, men have achieved success in any work to which they have given only part of their thought and a niggardly share of their enthusiasm. I believe that the largest per cent of unsuccessful housekeepers is always found among the women who are either doing their work ignorantly and according to somebody's tradition or because their interest and enthusiasm are given to some other person's work. Why is the opinion so general among both men and women that housekeeping requires a little less intelligence than almost any other kind of work? Why is it that the most incompetent person is the one who generally offers her services in domestic work? "She would do better in some one's kitchen" is the remark very often made of the unsuccessful woman.

What a Housekeeper Should Know.

It requires just as much brains to keep a house as it should be kept as it does to perform any other kind of work. It requires just as much knowledge and energy to make a home which truly fulfills all the term implies as it does to engage in any other industry. And no other work demands quite as much of the whole hearted interest, the real person, as does homemaking. One good reason why there are so many indifferently managed homes is because housekeeping in general has not as yet been put on the same plane as other industries. One reason why so many women are needlessly wearing themselves out in their task of providing food and shelter for their families is because of lack of knowledge of the fundamental principles of their work. Lack of training and practical education is responsible for many housekeeping failures. A woman said to me, "I cook for my family because I must, not because I have any interest in the art, for I thoroughly dislike it." "Are you a good cook?" I said. "No, I am not," was the answer. "If I am ever successful it is due to luck more than skill, because I really know nothing about the science of it, and, after years of experience, I simply can't get interested in it." Unless this woman is quite unlike the rest of humanity, her dislike can be traced to her failures, for no one dislikes to do that which he can do really well—just a little better perhaps than any one else. The woman who finds pleasure in making bread is generally the woman who has won the blue ribbon at the county fair and who has a reputation for being the best breadmaker in the township. She knows something about yeasts and flour, understands the proper temperature for breadmaking and finds her task a pleasure because she has had sufficient interest in it to become familiar with its science.

The housekeeper's work, if properly performed, gives regular exercise to all her faculties. If she understands, as she should, the effect of heat and cold upon food materials, upon liquids and solids, she will have a working knowledge of physics. If she knows something about digestion and personal hygiene she will not be a stranger to the study of physiology. Her intelligent handling of acids, alkalis and the treatment of the different fabrics in the laundry will necessitate a familiarity with chemistry. If she understands the scientific side of canning and preserving and the preservation of food by other methods, as well as the processes of cheesemaking, sterilizing, etc., she will be on familiar terms with household bacteriology. If she does not understand these simple truths, so closely related to her work, ignorance of them naturally presupposes working in the dark.

The Well Rounded Life.

The aim of life should not be to spend all the effort of our days in working simply to satisfy the physical needs of the body without any thought for mental development. True it is that a sound mind is usually found in a sound body, but it is also true that an empty head, like an empty stomach, is equally susceptible to poisons. Where all thought and effort are given to acquiring wealth, winning social or political position without taking into account the other side of life—the side which means the right attitude toward the world, our neighbors and ourselves—a great deal of true living has been overlooked and missed.

There are a good many pretty unprofitable propositions, but about the most no account thing is a good for nothing cur. He has no excuse for being on top of the ground.

Preliminary surveys are being made for an irrigation project in the Big Bend district in the state of Washington which, when completed, will water 500,000 acres of very rich land. The system will require several years to complete and will cost many millions of dollars.

The Scrap Book

The Birdcage.

A prisoner was arraigned before the bar of justice charged with having dined too long before another sort of bar and waxing too hilarious for the public peace.

"What were you doing drunk in the street?" asked the magistrate.

"Was I drunk?" was the reply in a tone of surprised innocence.

"The policeman says you were."

"Under oath?"

"Certainly."

"Perhaps he's right, but I was just going along with a birdcage in my hand."

The magistrate had a bottle set before the prisoner.

"Do you call that a birdcage?" he inquired. "That's what you were carrying."

The prisoner picked it up carefully, removed the cork, took a smell and turned it upside down. It was as dry as he was.

"Well," he answered slowly, "it ain't a birdcage now, since them policemen has had a whack at it."

"Probably you are sorer now and see things differently."

"That ain't it. It was a birdcage when I had it last."

"Possibly you can explain what you mean by a birdcage," suggested the puzzled court.

"Easy enough," smiled the prisoner. "It had about a dozen swallows in it when they got it."

Opportunity.

Foolish is he who says that at his door I knock but once, a furtive moment stay.

Fearing lest he shall hear, then haste away.

Not to escape him—to return no more. Not so; I knock and wait and o'er and o'er.

Come back to summon him. Day after day.

I come to call the idler from his play Or wake the dreamer with my vain uproar.

Out of a thousand, haply, now and then One, if he hear again and yet again.

Will tardy rise and open languidly. The rest, half puzzled, half annoyed, return.

To play or sleep nor seek nor wish to learn.

Who the untimely, clownish guest may be.
